CRITIC REVIEWS/PRESS: Zachary was fortunate to catch the eye of critics during his professional theatre debut as Tam in Miss Saigon, November 2013. He and his brother were also subject of a feature story in the Chicago Sun-Times for their work in Chicago area theatres.

Hedy Weiss of Chicago Sun-Times—"As Tam, Kim's child with Chris, the tiny, beautifully expressive Zachary Uzarraga is pure magic. You can't take your eyes off him." <http://voices.suntimes.com/arts-entertainment/the-daily-sizzle/miss-saigon-scorches-auroras-paramount-theatre-stage/>

Colin Douglas of Chicagotheatrereview.com—"...little Zachary Uzarraga, is exemplary in his focus and believable portrayal of Tam, Kim and Chris' son."

<http://www.chicagotheatrereview.com/2013/11/paramounts-latest-is-broadway-caliber/>

Eric Schelkopf of Kane County Chronicle—"Although Zachary did not have any lines, he deftly handled the sometimes difficult facial expressions required for the role, along with displaying real joy with his onstage mom."

Denise Crosby of Beacon News—"Zachary's expressions, his interactions with his mother Kim were so powerful, so convincing, I could barely take my eyes from them ... from him."
